

Do I Live in the 10th CD?

The 10th Congressional District of California is located in the East Bay region of Northern California. The district boundaries were extended in 2002 to include parts of Solano County and eastern Contra Costa county. The following are the cities that are a part of the 10th CD. Please be advised that some of these cities may be split between representatives.

The U.S. House of Representatives provides a ZIP Code to Representative Lookup from your five to nine digit zip code. This will confirm who represents your Congressional District.

Note that as of January 3, 2003, the following communities are no longer part of the 10th District. A longstanding tradition of Congressional courtesy dictates that the current representatives of these communities be afforded the opportunity to respond to their constituents.
